THE REVOLUTION #58 – OCTOBER 2012

Parents Know Best!

Parents know what is best for their children. I know that T.V shows today seem to portray parents as bumbling idiots who learn 'lessons' from their so smart kids. We know that is not how it really is. "Many" kids would play video games, slurp pop, eat chips & candy for days on end if they could. They would never go to school or use any manners. This is where parents come in. You know what is best. Some time for playing, occasional treats, say "please", eat your veggies etc. I would say to also hold your kids to be responsible too! Many students who are black belts now would not be if not for their parent's encouragement and occasional push. Everyone, kid or adult needs that push from time to time. Allowing your children to quit or give up can be habit forming. What would you want for your child in life? Quit when faced with a challenge or persevere?
